SHORTHORN HISTORY

The Shorthorn Breed of cattle originated on the northeastern coast of England in the counties of Northumberland, Durham, York and Lincoln. The first real development of the breed occurred in the valley of the Tees River about 1600. The large-framed cattle that inhabited this fertile valley became known as the Teeswater cattle.

The breed later spread to Scotland and then to America in 1783. When first brought to Virginia, the breed had attained the name Durham. It was the first improved breed to be imported here and the qualities the animals possessed put them in great demand, rapidly spreading their influence across America.

Shorthorns were popular with America's early settlers. They valued this breed for meat and milk and found Shorthorns a willing power for the wagon and plow as well. The breed followed, sometimes pulling pioneer wagons across the Great Plains and into the far west.

In 1834, Felix Renick of Chillicothe made the first major importation of Shorthorns to Ohio. On October 29, 1836, he held the first Shorthorn auction in America. The cattle sold for huge amounts ranging from $400 to $2,225. A monument was erected to mark this historical milestone.

The Shorthorn breed is the oldest American breed organization in existence today. Shorthorns and Polled Shorthorns are registered in the same Herd Book. Over 45 other breeds of cattle show traces of Shorthorn / Polled Shorthorn in their parentage, including Belgian Blue, Santa Gertrudis, Angus, Red Angus, Charolais, Gelbvieh, Beefmaster, Maine-Anjou and Milking Shorthorns.

The breed has been a part of many "firsts". The first registry for any breed of beef cattle was Coates Herd Book in 1822. The American Shorthorn Herd Book was the first of any breed to be published in the U.S. and was started in 1846. The first breed organization in America was the American Shorthorn Breeders Association which was founded in 1872. The first major breed to be developed in the U.S. was Polled Shorthorns, originating in Minnesota in 1881.

Shorthorns are the world's most numerous beef breed, but their numbers in North America do not reflect their world popularity. They are considered to be the most docile, easily-handled beef animals in the world.

Shorthorns have long been known for their maternal traits, milking ability and calving ease. Now the breed is excelling in growth and carcass traits, possessing

2024 WINNER: BOB AND LADONNA WORKMAN

Bob and Ladonna Workman are the foundation of Key Ridge Shorthorn Farm. Key Ridge Shorthorn Farm began in 1967 in Bellaire, Ohio when Bob purchased a Shorthorn heifer as a 4-H project from Charles Kurth, a Shorthorn breeder located in St. Clairsville, Ohio. Bob's parents, David and Zelda, and brother Rick were also very involved in the establishment of Key Ridge Shorthorn Farm. Bob and Ladonna were married in 1973 and moved onto his grandparent's home farm. Bob and Ladonna's children include Jeff, Becky (Corey Betts), and Brent (Leanne Prys); and their grandchildren; Alyssa and Sierra Betts; Breanne, Gage and Cooper Workman.

The entire family has been involved in various ways throughout the years. In addition to the home farm, many other tracts of land located in Belmont County have been and continue to be used for pasture, hay, and other crops. At various times over the years, the farm has included a dairy farm with Holsteins, hogs, sheep, and chickens. The predominant production crop has been hay. The one constant has been the primary focus of the Shorthorn beef herd. Which today, consist of 100 Shorthorn and Shorthorn Plus brood cows.

Bob and Ladonna have always been very involved with the Ohio Shorthorn Breeders Association, the Eastern Ohio Shorthorn Association, the Shorthorn Lassies and Belmont County 4-H. In the 1970s it was still common to have large show strings with cattle of different ages that moved from fair to fair throughout the late summer and early fall. Bob and Ladonna continued to follow this tradition well into the 21st century by exhibiting an open class show string of 10 plus Shorthorn bulls and heifers at 6-12 fairs per year. They have exhibited breeding cattle at 20 different county fairs located in Ohio, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

State fairs including, Ohio State Fair and the State Fair of West Virginia. Livestock expositions including, Keystone International Livestock Exposition and North American International Livestock Exposition and even the National Western Stock Show in Denver. They also consign cattle to several Shorthorn sales in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

Although, the Shorthorn brood cow herd is the primary focus, the show aspect is now focused on the grandchildren. The number of fairs has decreased, but the show days tend to be busier with Junior and Open shows of Shorthorn bulls, heifers and group classes, including Best 6 Head, with primary shows being at Ohio State Fair, the State Fair of West Virginia, Eastern Ohio Shorthorn Association District Show at the Canfield Fair, and Belmont County fair. Bob and Ladonna can still be seen at most Shorthorn events in Ohio cheering on their grandchildren or socializing with other Shorthorn Breeders.
